EMPERORS & SOUTH POLE

Abercrombie & Kent

One of the most thrilling adventures of my life was my first Inspiring Expedition to Antarctica in 2018, when our small group shared the privilege of standing at the South Pole, truly a once-in-a-lifetime experience. Now, we are once again offering this extraordinary journey to the bottom of the world. Following an enjoyable prelude in Cape Town hosted by myself, fly with my wife Otavia to the seventh continent to see an emperor penguin colony never visited before and walk through a naturally carved ice tunnel. Your adventure culminates with an excursion to the South Pole, a signal achievement for any traveller.

Do not miss an adventure never to be forgotten.

An aerial view from an airplane window showing a vast sea of icebergs. The icebergs are numerous and vary in size, appearing as white and light blue patches against the darker blue water. The sky is a clear, bright blue. The airplane's wing and tail fin are visible on the left side of the frame. The overall scene is serene and majestic.

TRAVEL

SOUTH AFRICA - ANTARCTICA

DECEMBER 13

Bid farewell to Geoffrey and, joined by Otavia, depart around 10:00 a.m. from the private jet facility at Cape Town International Airport, where your Gulfstream pilots are waiting for you. Fly for five and a half hours across the mighty Southern Ocean, high above thousands of icebergs floating across the sea. Halfway through the flight, cross the polar circle and enter 24 hours of continuous daylight.

Landing on your private ice runway (named Wolf's Fang), you're struck immediately by the vastness of your surroundings as the horizon stretches into the distance, punctuated only by a row of jagged mountain peaks.

A separate ski-equipped aircraft then ferries you the short 25-minute hop to the luxury camp, Whichaway, which has been diligently designed and meets A&K's strict criteria. Set out on a gentle trek around this snowy oasis to orientate yourself to the new surroundings.

● Bedroom Pod En Suite

● Guest Shower Pod

DECEMBER 14

Your base is made up of seven state-of-the-art sleeping pods. This unique camp stands in stark contrast to the immense 200-foot icefall and frozen lake that dominate your view. Each pod is just over 20 feet in diameter, complete with en suite facilities and a writing desk.

● Guest Sitting Room

The rest of the camp is comprised of a kitchen and three centralized pods that make up the reception, lounge and dining room. While the exterior is constructed from cutting-edge materials, the interior, with its rich textures, has an old-world feel. After a day's exploring, it is here you share stories as you feast on food prepared by award-winning chefs.

DAILY ACTIVITIES

Each day, your certified high-mountain guides offer a variety of activities that can be as challenging or relaxed as you wish. You are free to do as much or as little as you like to suit your mood in these awesome surroundings.

DECEMBER 14

Head to the 200-yard-long ice tunnels made of iridescent blue ice, a setting as surreal as it is unique. Walk through their extraordinary length, breathing in the still air and marveling at the bizarre ice formations carved by meltwater. On the way back, drive by 4x4 to the nearby science base to meet some of the scientists who have been conducting research throughout the winter.

90° S

SOUTH POLE

DECEMBER 15

Depart early in the morning in a BT-67 turboprop plane and fly five hours across the High Polar Plateau, landing at 83-degrees south to refuel. Take the opportunity to walk around and experience this daunting environment for yourself before continuing on for another two hours to the South Pole. This is the lowest point on earth, the holy grail for explorers. Here you are standing at a place that has no more east, south or west – the only direction from here is north.

At the South Pole marker, you can walk around the planet in just a few steps. After a special ceremony, visit the Amundsen-Scott South Pole Science Station to witness firsthand the often groundbreaking research conducted at this U.S. facility. Camp for the night at 83 degrees south in a full-height tent with camp bed, mattress and polar sleeping bag, making you among the select few who have spent a night in the beauty of the Polar Plateau, one of the wildest places on earth.

DECEMBER 16

After a hearty breakfast, board the plane once again for the flight back to camp, the perfect chance to truly appreciate the immense scale of Antarctica. Arrive at the Whichaway Skiway airstrip and transfer in 4x4 vehicles back to camp.

DECEMBER 17

Today, drive by 4x4 to a vast rock cliff overlooking the ice waves. Your guides have established a rope walk over the cliff edge. Crossing it is technically easy, but thrilling nonetheless. There may be time for lessons in skiing, snowmobiling or, with expert tutelage, you may choose to abseil off the nearby nunatak, a mountain surrounded completely by an ice field.

70° 38' 16" S 8° 15' 45" W

EMPEROR PENGUIN COLONY

DECEMBER 18

Fly two and a half hours across Antarctica, skimming across the spectacular coastline before landing at an emperor penguin colony. You is the only group to visit this specific colony. Surrounded by approximately 6,000 emperor penguins and their newly hatched chicks, get up close and personal to these real-life stars of March of the Penguins. At this time of year, the chicks are still covered in their grey down feathers and you can spend the day photographing them and their doting parents. There are occasionally Weddell seals in the area as well, lying next to their breathing holes, entirely unafraid of the proximity to humans. Fly back to camp in the late afternoon.

DECEMBER 19

A short 45-minute flight brings you to the Drygalski mountain range, an area that consists of huge monoliths of rock rising vertically out of the ice and often reaching 9,000 feet in height. Take the opportunity to achieve something truly unique: Climb a virgin summit in Antarctica, with your expert guides leading the way. Build a rock mound (or cairn) on the highest point to prove you were there; you even earn the right to name the mountain for the history books.

DECEMBER 20

In addition to the numerous planned activities (subject to local conditions), your journey also includes a number of informal, riveting talks by polar experts. One such talk is a presentation by a record-breaking polar guide about the history of the race to the South Pole. Told in the most evocative setting imaginable, the tale transports you back to the time of Scott and Amundsen as they risked everything to be the first to reach the lowest point on earth.

Today may also be a great day to picnic on the summit of a small ridge a short way from camp. The location offers the most spectacular views out across the frozen icebergs on the coast. Retrace your steps with a short drive to Whichaway Skiway to board your 25-minute flight to Wolf's Fang, where your private jet is waiting.

In the evening, catch your flight back to Cape Town.

DECEMBER 21

Arrive Cape Town early this morning and transfer to your hotel, The Silo, where you have a chance to relax in a hot bath while reminiscing on your once-in-a-lifetime adventures.

DECEMBER 22

After a good night's rest, continue your onward journey.

We will provide you with details of our recommended insurance provider. Insurance premiums and refunds are subject to the policies of the insurance carrier. We reserve the right at our discretion to refuse to allow any member of your party who is inadequately insured to participate in the program or any part of it. In that situation, we would not refund any part of the program price and would have no further liability to you arising from such refusal. It is your responsibility to ensure that the policy is suitable for the Tour.

Cancellations by you must be received in writing and will become effective on the date of the postmark, fax or email receipt. All payments are non-refundable. Refunds will not be made for any missed services or missed days.

CANCELLATION BY A&K

A&K reserves the right to cancel the Tour at any time for any reason whatsoever, in its sole and absolute discretion.

The guest's acceptance of any alternate arrangement or refund offered under this Agreement shall constitute a waiver of any additional remedies. If we are unable to offer you a suitable alternative, then we will give you a refund of the tour price which you have already paid, less any irrecoverable costs already incurred in relation to the cancelled program, which shall not exceed 25% of the program price. Subject hereto, we will have no further liability to you arising from the tour cancellation.

A&K assumes no responsibility and shall not be held liable for acts of nature, fire, flood, fog, smog, weather, mechanical failures, acts of government or other civil or military authorities, wars, civil disturbances, riots, terrorist acts, crimes, strikes, shortages of aviation fuel, epidemics, quarantines, hazards incident to sea, land and air travel, or any other similar occurrence, without limitation, that is beyond its reasonable ability to control.

ITINERARIES

A&K reserves the right to modify program itineraries, including arranged sightseeing, and substitute accommodations and/or aircraft at any time due to unforeseen circumstances or circumstances beyond A&K's control and which may affect our ability to provide the scheduled itinerary or which may make the operation of the scheduled itinerary unsafe or otherwise inadvisable. Every effort will be made to operate itineraries as planned, but alterations may occur after the final itinerary has been issued. As this tour does involve adventurous travel to remote and inhospitable regions, the logistics associated with the tour are unique to the Polar Regions and, as such, are very complex. Accordingly, changes may need to be made in the interest of safety, due to logistical factors or other reasons associated with travel to a polar environment.

The possible changes to the scheduled itinerary may notably include certain components of it, dates and departure times and aircraft types used to perform the Tour.

We will endeavor to give as much advance notice of any changes as possible but, due to the nature of the circumstances, it may not always be possible to do so and, consequently, we reserve the right to make such changes at any time and without prior notification to you.

While A&K acknowledges the participation of Geoffrey Kent in the tour forms a part of the tour experience, this cannot be guaranteed. Events outside of A&K's control such as medical or personal reasons may result in Geoffrey Kent not being able to participate or join the tour. Notwithstanding any non-participation by Geoffrey Kent the tour shall continue to operate on the set itinerary.

GUEST REPRESENTATIONS

(a) Guest certifies that he or she has not recently been treated for, nor is he or she aware, of any physical or other condition or disability that would create a hazard to him or herself or other members of this Tour or reduce their ability to enjoy and benefit from the sightseeing and dining program. Due to the hostile nature of Antarctica's environment, it is essential that each member of your party is properly equipped and clothed in accordance with the requirements set forth in our packing recommendations. A&K local representatives are experts in polar clothing and, consequently, will have the final decision as to whether a member of your party is suitably equipped and clothed or not. If, either prior to commencement of the program or during the program, our representatives consider that any member of your party is not suitably equipped or clothed, than that member's participation in the program or relevant part of the program will be cancelled, in which case you will not be entitled to a refund of any part of the program price and we will have no further liability to you arising from the cancellation. You will further be responsible for any additional costs (such as flight, accommodation and subsistence costs) incurred as a result of the cancellation. Itinerary, accommodations and arranged sightseeing are subject to change at any time due to unforeseen circumstances or circumstances beyond A&K's control. Every effort will be made to operate the Tour as planned.

PRICES & ARRANGEMENTS

The quoted Tour price includes planning, handling and operational charges, and is based on current rates of exchange, tariffs and taxes as of October 2020. Abercrombie & Kent USA, LLC, reserves the right to increase Tour price to cover increased costs, fuel surcharges, tariffs and taxes after brochure is published, and to reflect fluctuations in foreign exchange markets. Marco Polo Club discount is not applicable to this program.

PASSPORTS AND VISAS

It is the guest's sole responsibility to obtain and have available when necessary the appropriate valid travel documents. All guests are advised to check with the appropriate government authority to determine the necessary documents. A valid passport with multi-entry use for South Africa is required. Passports must contain at least two (2) consecutive blank (unstamped) pages and must be valid for six (6) months after the return of your journey. South Africa Immigration is extremely strict and may refuse entry or require participants to return home on the next available flight if these requirements are not met. If any member of your party if refused entry to South Africa, for whatever reason, that member's participation in the program will be cancelled and will not be entitled to a refund of the program price.

HEALTH REQUIREMENTS

This is an active program, which requires you to make a realistic assessment of your health. All participants are expected to be in active good health, to enjoy travelling as part of a group, and to be ready to experience difficult terrain and a hostile environment. Within one month of booking, you must visit your personal physician and procure his signature on our confidential Medical Information form and return it to us to confirm your ability to participate in this type of journey. No one may participate in the tour unless the medical report is acceptable to the local operator. If you are not accepted on the tour following your booking you will have your deposit returned. If you do not provide the Medical Information form within one month of booking, it will be deemed to be a cancellation by you and no refund of the deposit will be made. If, after you have provided the medical reports and been accepted on the tour, there is any change to your medical condition, you are required to disclose this to us as soon as possible. The local operator will assess the change in your medical condition and has total discretion to refuse to accept you on the tour as a result of the change in your medical condition. If you are refused participation as a result there is no refund of the Program Cost and you will be liable for any additional costs (such as flight, accommodation and subsistence cost), which is why we highly recommend that you purchase trip cancellation insurance.

For the latest recommendations on specific health precautions for the areas you will visit, consult your physician and the Centers for Disease Control. Any physical condition requiring special attention, diet, or treatment should be reported in writing when the reservation is made. We will make reasonable efforts to accommodate participants with special needs; however, we cannot accommodate wheelchairs.
