Brass lamps, richly patterned textiles and dark wood add glamour. With 30 cabins and suites, Nile Adventurer has a boutique-hotel feel, while a Sun Deck, pool and massage room complete the luxury offering. It all nicely primes guests for a languid cruise between Aswan and Luxor, stopping to explore unmatched archaeological wonders with an expert Egyptologist guide.

The Riverboat

Its boutique size (just 30 cabins and suites; all with timeless Nile views as the boat glides along the water) and luxurious touches (gleaming teak on the Sun Deck; marble in the massage room) make the Nile Adventurer feel like a floating small luxury hotel. But it's one set amid one of the most evocative landscapes on earth, with the colors of the legendary river reflected in the interiors: warm apricots, burnished bronze, cool blues, and aquamarines. Further rooting the riverboat in its surroundings, local materials and Egyptian iconography meet modern design in an eclectic blend of western and eastern influences.

Between tours of ancient sites expertly led by an Egyptologist, guests lean into the Nile Adventurer's five-star offerings, sipping cocktails in a private top-deck cabana, cooling off in the pool or indulging in a pampering massage. The chef shares local recipes and tips during an Egyptian cooking class, and traditional music is a constant soundtrack – from the joyous welcome to the final night gala dinner.

The Nile Location

Welcome to Southern Egypt, crucible of Ancient Egyptian culture. The River Nile wends its way more than 4,000 miles from Lake Victoria to the Mediterranean Sea. Yet it is the 130-mile section between Aswan and Luxor in southern Egypt that exerts the most powerful hold on the collective imagination. Here are many of the largest, most elaborate and intriguing structures built in ancient times, including the massive Temple of Karnak, the Valley of the Kings, the Valley of the Queens, the Temple of Kom Ombo, the Temple of Horus in Edfu, and the Greco-Egyptian shrine to Isis at the Philae temple complex, painstakingly reconstructed on an island after the original site was threatened by floods.

The river and landscape themselves possess an elemental beauty and, with A&K Sanctuary, your journey along and through them will be exclusive and enlightening. Arriving in either Luxor (a one-hour flight from Cairo) or Aswan (1 hour 30 minutes), relax during a private transfer by road (30 or 45 minutes respectively) to the exclusive docking area where you step aboard Nile Adventurer. Stopping at key archaeological sites en route from Luxor to Aswan – or vice versa – you will step ashore with an Egyptologist guide who will bring to life 5,000 years of history in the living outdoor museum that is the River Nile.

Incredible historic sites aside, guests can get a sense of the vibrant life along the Nile with a sailing trip on a traditional felucca, a visit to a colorful Nubian village to meet the locals, a sense-tingling trip to a spice market and a hot-air balloon ride to put it all into perspective.

Hot-air balloons deliver a bird's-eye view

LUXOR

Home to more than half of Egypt's antiquities, Luxor – formerly Thebes, the capital of Ancient Egypt at the height of its glory – is the gateway to the Nile or the end point of the voyage. Visit the bustling market before touring its legendary archaeological sites.

Atmospheric ancient ruins abound in Luxor

LUXOR TEMPLE

Luxor honors “kingship", rather than any deity. Alexander the Great claimed to have been crowned in the city, and he, Amenhotep III, Tutankhamun and Ramesses II built sections of the temple. Nearby were a legionary fortress and a seat of government in Roman times.

Explore UNESCO-protected sites with a local guide

KARNAK TEMPLE

This vast complex of temples, pylons, chapels and other structures, including the Great Hypostyle Hall, was built between the Middle Kingdom and Ptolemaic periods. Some 30 pharaohs added works and structures to what is now a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

Intricate hieroglyphics adorn a tomb

THE VALLEY OF THE KINGS

This historic burial ground for nobles and pharaohs, including Tutankhamun, is one of the world’s key archaeological sites. Hidden within rocky cliffs, 63 decorated tombs showcase exquisite hieroglyphics, paintings and treasures, proof of royal belief in the afterlife.

Aswan marks ancient Egypt's southern frontier

ASWAN

The gateway to southern Egypt since 2,000BC, Aswan still delivers astonishing finds. In recent years, archaeologists have uncovered a bust of the Roman Emperor Marcus Aurelius, a sphinx and 35 mummies in a tomb dating back to the Ptolemaic Dynasty.

This shrine to the goddess Isis was saved from rising waters

PHILAE TEMPLE

This ravishingly beautiful Greco-Egyptian shrine to Isis, extraordinary in its own right, was made even more famous when, in 1971, it was relocated from its original site to higher ground on nearby Agilika Island when rising Nile waters threatened to submerge it.

Many ancient ruins are remarkably well preserved

KOM OMBO TEMPLE

Kom Ombo is remarkable for many reasons, not least its dramatic position, symmetrical design and dedication to two gods rather than one – crocodile-headed Sobek and falcon-headed Horus. The mummified reptiles in the Crocodile Museum are surprisingly moving.

Some stone inscriptions are 2,000 years old

TEMPLE OF EDFU

One of the best-preserved shrines in the whole of Egypt, the Temple of Edfu was built between 237 and 57 BC. Inscriptions on the walls give intriguing information about the myths, language and religions following the death of Alexander the Great in 323 BC.

An outing aboard one of these gracious traditional sailboats, nonchalantly piloted by a skipper with a bare foot on the tiller, is the most serene way to explore the waters around Elephantine Island, Lord Kitchener's Botanical Gardens, and the Agha Khan Mausoleum.

Venture further south along the Nile to Sohail Island, in what was once Nubia – the region where the Kerma civilization, one of the oldest in Africa, flourished from 2500 BC to 1500 BC. Explore a time-warp village where Nubian culture is preserved, taking a camel ride through its alleys and meeting villagers in their colorfully painted homes. Optional experience. Additional cost.

Your Nile Cruise Four-Night Itinerary

ASWAN TO LUXOR

DAY 1: A WARM WELCOME IN ASWAN

A traditional musical procession welcomes guests aboard Nile Adventurer, their five-star A&K Sanctuary riverboat, and sets the tone for this immersive trip in ancient and living Egypt.

After boarding via a private dock in Aswan – whose temples have stood guard over the Nile since the seventh century BC – the first post-lunch excursion is in a traditional felucca (weather permitting) for a sail around Elephantine Island, declared a World Heritage Site on account of its many archaeological digs.

Back on board afternoon tea is served in the lounge to the accompaniment of an oud trio, and the day is topped off by a gourmet dinner prepared by talented chefs.

DAY 2: EXPLORE TEMPLES OF PHILAE AND KOM OMBO

Agilika Island is the scene for the next archaeological discovery, where the nearby Philae temple complex was relocated and painstakingly reassembled to save it from floods created when the Old Aswan Dam was built. The hieroglyphic reliefs and a visit to the Granite Quarries that supplied most of the stone used to build pyramids are a highlight.

As guests enjoy lunch and afternoon tea, the riverboat cruises to Kom Ombo. That evening, visit the magnificent Temple of Kom Ombo, dedicated to the crocodile god Sobek. The day ends with a memorable dinner onboard, followed by a movie night.

DAY 3: DISCOVER EDFU AND CULTURAL IMMERSION

Post breakfast, the day begins with a visit to the dramatic Temple of Edfu on the Nile's west bank – one of the best-preserved shrines in Egypt, built between 237 and 57BC. Marvel at the inscriptions on its walls, which reveal much about language, myth and religion during the Hellenistic period in the country.

Back on board, guests can join an Egyptian cooking class, followed by afternoon tea, as the boat sails to the city of Luxor (formerly the ancient city of Thebes). It reads like a Who's Who of ancient sites: the Temple of Luxor with its imposing obelisk, where an Egyptologist guide shares insightful stories; the iconic Valley of the Kings and the Queens, hidden away in the rocky folds of the landscape.

In the evening, guests enter into the spirit of local life as they dress in traditional galabeyya robes for an Egyptian Night on board, featuring a lavish dinner followed by dancing.

DAY 4: THE VALLEY OF THE KINGS EXPLORATION

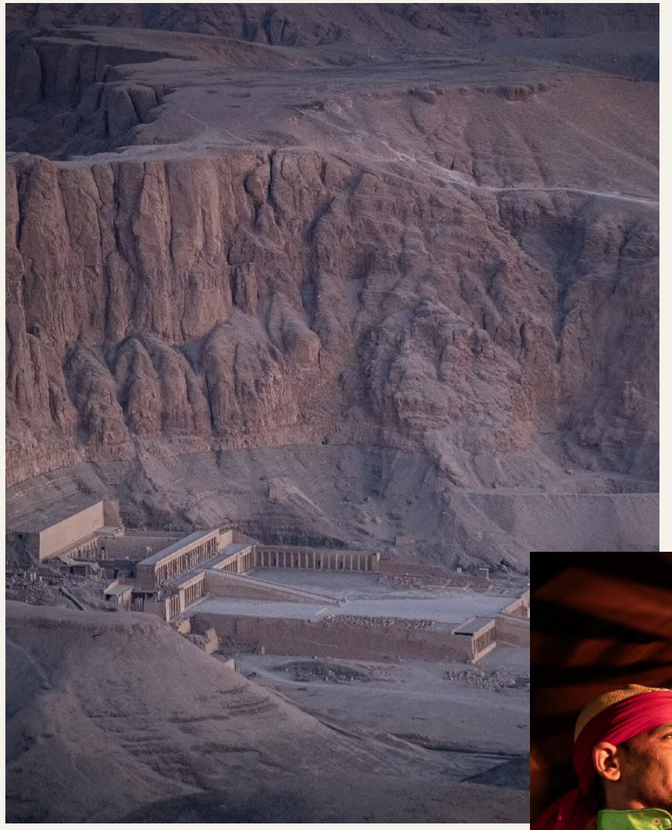

The jewel in the crown awaits today: the Valley of the Kings where, for nearly 500 years, some 65 rock-cut tombs and chambers were excavated for nobles and pharaohs, followed by a visit to the nearby Valley of the Queens and the Temple of Queen Hatshepsut.

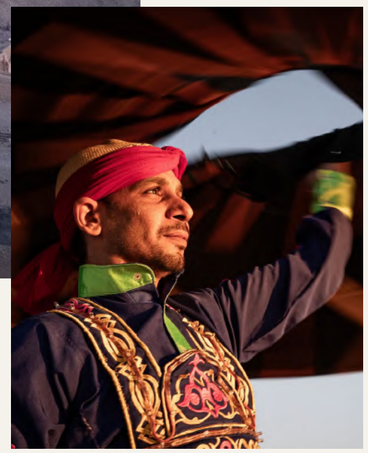

The final archaeological showstopper is the Temple of Karnak, a complex of temples, pylons and chapels which guests explore with an Egyptologist guide.

Back on the boat, afternoon tea allows for some downtime. The voyage concludes with a gala dinner with white-gloved waiters serving gourmet cuisine, plus a dervish show.
